

The ingenuity of Henry Ford in transformative transportation systems in the late 19th Century give the vehicle a unique brand appeal.

The age of horse power named after centuries long of having horses as the main mode of transportation and carts culminated.

In todays society social status is vetted by the vehicle one is driving based on model as well as the design of the body.

However technological advancements into the digital world have demanded for more sophisticated models being manufactured.

Apart from being the largest global employer, citizens of the 21st Century have demanded for a digitized car in this fast paced society.

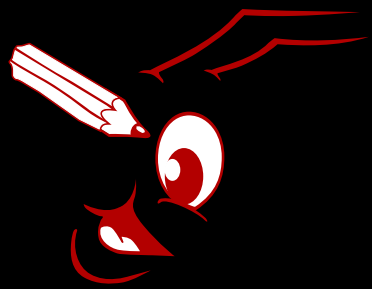

Car Designers have propelled how we look at vehicles and likewise dictate the models which upon society puts on preferential list.

The advertising community dictates which models advance in revenue in the same industry.

Sketch Marketing will deliver your car keys to your clientele by providing artistic and vibrant messages in imagery as well as unmentionable words, without underscoring your organizations mission and vision.
